Preparing your wall decal

After removing from box, unroll the design and lay it flat on a hard surface you may let it rest for about 24 hours so it flattens out and acclimates to its environment.

When you're ready to start putting up your decal. Take the application tool (white squeegee card) and use medium pressure to go over the top layer. This will remove any air bubbles and make sure that vinyl is sticking to the transfer sheet. Flip it over and repeat the process.

\ If your decal curls up, you can weigh it down with books.*

Instructions for How to put a WALL DECAL - It is a DIY job

There are multiple ways to install your decal, the example shown here is called a center hinge method. If the decal allows it, you may also use the top hinge or side hinge method. For video instructions, visit us at our Facebook page & see Wall Decals Installation videos in video section

1 Use a damp cloth to clean your wall. Let the wall dry completely before proceeding. This step is important because walls have dust particles and residue that could affect the adhesion of the wall decal. You will need to allow a freshly painted wall to cure 2-3 weeks before installing your decal.

2 Position your decal on the wall with masking tape. If your decal came in multiple pieces, we suggest starting with the largest piece first. When you're happy with the placement, proceed by taping the middle with a long strip of masking tape

3 Slowly peel back one side of the transfer paper from the backing paper. While holding the transfer paper with the design portion gently folded back, use your scissors to cut away the blank backing paper that is revealed.

4 Hold the bare half of the decal a few inches above the wall with slight tension to prevent the decal from touching. Use your hand or squeegee to smooth the decal onto the wall starting from the center where the hinge tape is and working your way out.

5 Remove the remaining masking tape. Carefully fold over the other half, slowly remove the rest of the white backing paper and press the rest of the decal to the wall.

6 Use the squeegee to firmly rub across the entire vinyl graphic. Using a damp towel, get the surface of the transfer paper moist. This will help release it from the decal.

7 Starting with one corner and working diagonally, slowly pull the transfer paper from the surface of the wall and decal. Pull slowly at a 180 angle and if needed, use your finger to push the revealed decal pieces against the wall.

8 Double check to make sure all of the decal has adhered to the wall; use the backing paper as a barrier and go over the decal with a squeegee. If needed, you can quickly go over the decal with a hair dryer to work out any air bubbles. Be sure not to leave the hair dryer in one place for too long or you could damage your decal.

If your decal came in one solid piece, you're done! If your decal came in multiple pieces with Triangular Joining-Marks ▲ marks, please continue on to step 9. If your decal has other pieces without the registration marks, simply repeat steps 2-7.

9 In some designs, we've added Join Marks (Tiny Triangular registration marks to help you line up your other decal pieces. Cut the extra paper away from the decal where the square marks are; this will make it easier to see in the next step.

In most Join marks you will need to join the two parts in a way that two triangles forms a square just like here shown. Please note if cutting is required you will need to very closely cut near these join marks. Most of the time we put cuts near these Join Marks for your help.

10 Identify the right piece that should be joined with existing piece that you already have pasted on wall. You will need to join the Triangular Join marks of the piece that you have already installed with the Triangular Join mark of the piece in your hand. Both registration marks should make a nice Squar shape with a thin gap between them. You will notice your design automatically will get align and shape just like it suppose to be.

11 Repeat the center hinge method in steps 2-7 or use a top hinge as shown below. If the piece is large, use more tape along the top to help keep it secured to the wall while you apply. Also keep an eye on the previously installed part some time it tends to stick to the transfer paper of second part being
